YOUNG PEOPLE'S SECRETARY

In the St. John Division—Junior War Receives Impetus—

Staff-Captain Coombs.

As the writer's privilege and honor to meet Brigadier Hargrave at Moncton, and journey with him to Summerside, where the first fair meeting was held. Captain McKee and her Soldiers were holding a fair meeting when the boat arrived. A good crowd gathered at the wharf to welcome and hear the Brigadier, who, for nearly an hour, spoke helpfully upon the work of the Young People.

The next morning we started for Charlottetown. It was a beautiful trip, through one of the best farming districts. Captain White met us at the station, and we spent a useful time. We had a splendid open-air, and good inside. The address given by the Brigadier was enjoyed by all, and stirred up much interest in the Young People's Work, some committing to do more in this line than they had ever done.

On the way to Moncton, where Ensign Hargrave is in charge. Not being a regular meeting night, and owing to considerable attractions, the attendance at the inside meeting was not very large, but the Young People, and those engaged in that work, were well represented, and the Brigadier spoke with much blessing and had a personal word with each comrade.

On Monday, the next visited, Sunday, and Monday being devoted entirely to the Young People's Work in the Company and then spoke on the Young People's Work in the large hall. On Monday night, the Brigadier conducted a meeting with the Young People's Workers, and the Corps Cadets, all of whom were present. This was a meeting of great importance, and the Brigadier made the most of it, giving counsel and instruction will be in days to come.

On Tuesday night was spent at St. John's, Nfld. A good crowd gathered, and the meeting was very successful. Several persons received conversion during the evening. On Wednesday morning, the Brigadier was at Fredericton, and spoke at a meeting for the Young People. He was very interesting and helpful, and turned out a large crowd. There was a special publication and the Brigadier spoke with much blessing.

Pictou, Ont.

On Friday and Saturday, the Brigadier was at Pictou, and spoke at a meeting for the Young People. He was very interesting and helpful, and turned out a large crowd. There was a special publication and the Brigadier spoke with much blessing.

PATHETIC NOTES FROM BRIGADIER GREEN'S LAST VISITS TO THE MURDERER WAGNER AT NANAIMO.

[From Brigadier Green's notes of his final interviews with the prisoner Wagner, who paid the death penalty at Nanaimo, on August 20th, for the murder of a policeman some months ago, we are able to take the following extracts.—Ed.]

MRS. GREEN and myself visited Wagner in Nanaimo three times and advised the poor fellow as best we could. On the afternoon preceding the execution, Captain and Mrs. Hustler and I visited him, and found him very much broken up. There was a scar on his forehead, the result of an attempt of his to take his own life a few days before. The man was very much agitated, and was anxious to see the young woman whom he called his wife. She has three little children. The man looked most pitifully at me, and the sight was one never to be forgotten, as he "groined" upon the mattress behind the iron bars, shuddered around the ankles. He said in response to my suggestion that I should read a Bible passage: "I would like you to read and speak, but I don't want to break down till I have seen my wife and children. With this he threw himself into a kneeling position and asked, "Brigadier, will you please offer a prayer?" I prayed earnestly for the poor man, who extended his hand through the bars to me. He then looked at Mrs. Captain Hustler and asked: "Will you shake hands with me?" Of course, she did so. I promised to go and see his wife. He thanked me, and asked if I would look after her and the children. I said I could do all I could. He was in a desperate mood, and when I tried to cheer him, he looked into my eyes most pathetically and said: "You cannot keep a man alive with a broken heart." I replied: "No, but you must look to God, to Him and seek by true repentance and earnest prayer forgiveness of your past at the hands of a tender, loving, but just, God. Wagner said, "Yes, just God." He assured me he had already done this, shook hands with me again, and we parted. I went direct to the little cottage, about seven minutes' walk from the

BERNADIAN WEDDING.

On the 31st of George's Garrison, the wedding of the daughter of the late Major-General Sir John A. Macdonald, and the son of the late Major-General Sir John A. Macdonald, was celebrated at the Garrison, New Brunswick. The bride was Miss Mary Macdonald, and the groom was Mr. John A. Macdonald. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Higgins, and was attended by a large number of guests.

During the last six months in having Captain Graves as Commander of the Corps (by the way he is the first male Officer St. George's Corps has had during the last seventeen years). Now he has the honour of being the first married Officer also. Bernadine, appreciating, a good thing, when they see it, and that they appreciated the Captain was clearly shown by the way they turned out to the ceremony. The wedding was conducted by the District Officer, Adjutant Burton, in the Army Hall. The Adjutant, having remarked briefly upon the significance of the occasion, called upon Mrs. Burton to read a Scripture portion. The articles of Marriage were read, and the usual responses being made, the two couples were declared man and wife.

After the Hamilton Band, which furnished the music during the evening, had given us a stirring selection, the Adjutant called upon Captain Barclay, who supported the bridegroom, to speak. Captain Green, who supported the bride, also spoke. Sister Mrs. Sprung, the Treasurer, speaking for the Corps, paid a glowing tribute to the work of Captain Graves, and heartily welcomed Mrs. Graves to St. George's. The Rev. Mr. Higgins, a Methodist minister, declared he was quite at home on the Army platform, and made a few felicitous remarks. A duet was then sung by Sisters Mrs. Kellogg and King. Mrs. Adjutant Burton spoke about the early life of Mrs. Graves, and the sacrifice she had made on becoming a Salvationist.

The presence of Colonel Saltoun-Wilmott, the senior Commanding Officer of the Garrison and Fort at St. George's, was much appreciated by all, and his remarks concerning the Captain as a young man (especially with a scriptural illustration) were very encouraging. He congratulated Mrs. Graves on the stand she had taken for principles, when met with opposition on joining The Salvation Army. The Colonel paid a high compliment to the work of The Army, remarking that in time of peace his duty of the King's army was to defend, but when in time of war to speak with gun and rifle, trusted that the King's army would acquit itself as magnificently as the Salvation Army was doing the time. Captain and Mrs. Graves spoke briefly, and Adjutant Burton, in giving the blessing, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Higgins. A wedding banquet was arranged by the comrades of the Corps, and a meeting was held to celebrate the excellent joyous and decorous occasion.

THE WAR CRY. ARMY SONGS.

Tune.—The Blood that makes, 132.
Lord Jesus, I long, 184.
1 Lord Jesus, my heart has been hard and unclean.
Its strength against Thee Thou often hast seen.
But Thy Blood can cleanse me entirely, I know:
Lord, wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!

Chorus.
Wash me now, wash me now in the Blood that makes whiter than snow:
Then sin, doubt, and fear from my heart shall all go:
When washed in the Blood that makes whiter than snow.

Lord Jesus, I often have promised before
To serve Thee alone, and to grieve no more:
But only from pure hearts can pure service flow.
Lord, wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!

Lord Jesus, my all now to Thee I resign,
To know no more life, no more pleasure, but Thine;
Whatever Thou hastest in me now o'erthrow,
Lord, wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow!

Tune.—Marching to Zion, 70.
2 To leave the world below,
March onward with our band,
And step by step we mean to go
To Zion's happy land.

Chorus.
We're marching to Zion, etc.
The city we shall see,
The heavenly music hear,
Marching to songs of victory.
With all The Army there.
The pearly gates are wide,
The streets are bright and fair;
We'll march together, side by side,
Till safely landed there.

Tune.—Who'll be the next, 293.
Song Book, 57.
3 Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Some one is ready, some one is waiting,
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?

Chorus.
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Come and bow at His precious feet,
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Who'll be the next to follow Jesus?
Sing, Hallelujah! Praise the Lamb!

After a few days' rest, Lieut-Colonel Rees has returned to duty at Territorial Headquarters. Brigadier Hargrave is at present campaigning in the East Ontario Division, in the interests of the Young People's and Candidates' Departments. Adjutant Blackburn has been appointed to assist Staff-Captain Sims in the Men's Social Work in Winnipeg. Ensign Penfold sails for England on Saturday, October 31st, to engage in selection work for the Immigrant Department. While Mrs. Ensign Owen continues her furlough at Kingston, Ontario, the Ensign was accompanied Ensign Penfold to England, where he will assist in connection with immigration affairs. Captain Helen Atcherson has been appointed to assist at the Ottawa Children's Home. Captain and Mrs. Cole, of Clark's Beach, Nfld., and Captain and Mrs. Hunt, of Wessakewin, Alta., are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at their quarters.

Comrades and Helpers.

IMPELLED by considerations of space to hold over our Circulation Notes, it would seem regretful on the part of the Editorial Staff if in this birthday number of "The War Cry" some word of appreciation were not addressed to the Field Officers, who sometimes with splendid enthusiasm, and always with loyal-heartedness, year in and year out, watch over the interests and work for the increased influence of "The War Cry," and especially to that devoted little Company of Heralds—may their numbers increase—who every week deliver the ever-welcome paper at the homes of the people, and sell it on the streets and other public places.

To every one of these, our warmest thanks! Thanks for all you have done and still more for what you are going to do.

The circulation of "The War Cry" is steadily rising (so is, by the way, the population of the Dominion), but we still hear again and again of would-be readers who are unable to get the paper regularly. They could, of course, obtain it by becoming periodical subscribers, but there are those who for various reasons prefer to pay weekly, and unable to get the paper weekly, get it not at all. Will you not come to their help—your committee, who might, without any heavy sacrifice of time or comfort, but with profit to yourself and great blessing to those would-be readers, make yourself responsible for this simple, but important, duty? Please speak to the Commanding Officer of your willingness to lead a hand in this most worthy matter.

Turning to the Commanding Officers, may we ask that you will kindly endeavour to fill any vacancies that may occur by the farewell of Heralds who are entering the Training College? Close the ranks there, please.

To our faithful Correspondents also, our profound gratitude and an expression of our earnest hope that you will continue to serve "The War Cry" ever with the same zeal as of old.

And to all these comrades, as well as to every reader: Please speak of "The War Cry" to your friends and neighbours, and pass it on; and then why not write to us a little oftener? THE EDITOR.

COLONEL MITCHELL AT RIVERDALE.

Conducts Sunday's Meetings—Candidates' Farewell.

Sunday morning's meeting (September 27th) was led by Adjutant Cameron. In the afternoon, Colonel Mitchell, of International Headquarters, was in charge.

The Colonel attended the open-air meeting, and in the Hall, led a rousing Salvation meeting. His presence seemed to electrify everything and everywhere, and the warm reception by the Riverdale, was not to be wondered at.

The Bandmen were in a heaven of delight, and their joy could not be suppressed. A twist of the Colonel's fingers, and the band played for all they were worth.

Their playing was very favourably spoken of by their distinguished visitors, whose address and sparkling wit, fragrance memory to those who were present.

At night, Candidate Violet Howson, farewelled for the Training College. Nine years ago, on a Harvest Festival Sunday, she had been the Mercy Seat. Since that time, she has been an efficient Junior Worker, and was for a time, a member of the Songster Brigade. Treasurer Soulelier and Junior Sergeant Major Brown spoke highly of the Candidate's service, and greeted her with affectionate farewells. Adjutant Cameron gave an earnest Salvation address, and the Band and Songsters gave effective aid.

Headquarters, Toronto.

We are glad to hear that so far as it is now possible to judge, the results of the Harvest Festival Campaign throughout the Territory will be very gratifying to all concerned. To God we give the glory!

Colonel Mitchell, of International Headquarters, London, Eng., arrived in Toronto on September 20th, spending Sunday in the city, and then proceeding to New York. The Colonel returns to Toronto on Thursday, and on Monday (September 27th) will preside over a musical festival to be given by the Staff Band at the Temple.

The close of the fiscal year, so far as the Army is concerned, is the cause of unusual activity in the Financial Department at Territorial Headquarters, at present busy.

Brigadier and Mrs. Hammonds, and Brother Patrick Lamb, son of Commissioner and Mrs. Lamb, sail for England on September 24th, via the "Laurentic."

Lieut. Colonel Turner recently conducted property inspections at Cobalt, Haliburton, New Liskeard, and North Bay.

Major Moore and Adjutant Calvert have returned to Toronto from Pictou, Ont., where they, with the assistance of other Officers, conducted a successful financial campaign in the interests of a new Hall for that town. We hope to give further particulars and photographs in our next issue.

Major Miller will shortly visit Saskatoon, Regina, Medicine Hat, and Winnipeg, in connection with property matters. The Major expects to leave Toronto on October 3rd.

Major McGillivray recently visited Ottawa and Montreal, conducting meetings in the Capital City, and conferring with Adjutant and Mrs. Knight, of the Domestic Lodge, Montreal.

Staff-Captain Blos, on Friday, September 10th, visited Fort Snoddy, for inspection purposes, and conducted meetings at Sudbury, on September 20, 21, 22, and 23.

Ruth, the daughter of Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. Turner, is, we are informed, to go to Grace Hospital, Winnipeg, where she will undergo a course of training in nursing.

The marriage of Captain John Moon, of Paris, and Captain Mary Hiscock, of Wallaceburg, is to take place towards the end of the present month.

Captain R. Barker has been accepted as an Officer, and is appointed as a scenographer in the Immigration Department, at Territorial Headquarters.

Captain and Mrs. Wm. Spang, of St. John III, N. B., are rejoicing over the recent arrival of a daughter, Major and Mrs. Fraser, of the meeting at North Hill Farm, North Bay, Ontario; Adjutant Hargrave, Ensign H. H. H. Dray, of W. Dray, of Whistly Hospital, on Sunday, September 27th.

OPENED FOR THE TERRITORY, IN TORONTO, ON SEPTEMBER 21ST—CADETS FOR ALL BRANCHES OF THE WOMEN'S SOCIAL WORK TO RECEIVE TRAINING.

Interview with THE COMMISSIONER.

"There can be no greater delusion to suppose that anyone can successfully do this work. It is mainly personal, and anybody who knows anything of this also knows that great skill and tact and good judgment are needed. Without these qualifications, little hope of usefulness can be entertained."

"This Institute will therefore provide just the means that many young women in our ranks feel they need to fit them for such service."

Ever-increasing opportunities await The Army in this field of Social Reform.

"Scarcely a month passes," continued the Commissioner, "but what we receive some urgent call to take up a new line of Social Work somewhere in the Dominion—from municipal authorities, from police departments, and from other sources—and had we the Officers in sufficient numbers, properly trained, we might be extending these greatly-valued ministrations of mercy all the time."

"I am naturally expecting much from the opening of the Institute. It is a very expensive undertaking—a heavy drain upon our already strained financial resources; but we shall overcome this difficulty as we are able to train the required Officers."

We asked the Commissioner for some idea of the Training these Cadets are to receive.

"It will divide itself into three main divisions," he replied. "In the first place, the Cadets will be present at the parent Training College three hours each morning, from ten to one o'clock, where they will have the advantage of the morning lecture, which, you know, deals with an endless variety of important questions; in fact, covers the whole range of an Officer's character and work. They will also have the benefit of the Biblical and Doctrinal Classes, and will participate in all the Spiritual Days."

"In the next place, they will have, in their own Institute, many classes and lectures dealing in detail with all phases of a Social Officer's work. I have, for some time, been working, and others with me, on the subjects of these classes and lectures, and I have had all the benefit of the experience gained at the Women's Training Institute in London, England, which has done such successful work during the last thirteen years or more. So that our Institute will begin at some advantage."

"In the third place, the Cadets will, in Brigades, take part in the work of the Women's Social Institutions in this city, which embrace an Industrial Home, a Hospital, a Children's Home, and a home for the receiving of Prison cases. Here they will have the opportunity of seeing in practice what they have learnt in class."

As to the suitability of the Institute itself for the purpose it is to serve, the Commissioner is of opinion that a better or more conveniently placed building could hardly have been found. It stands in its own grounds (the address is 462 Sherbourne Street), and the rooms are large and airy.

"I think," the Commissioner reflected, "I have only one regret about it and that is that it will only accommodate twelve Cadets for a beginning. With a little more room, twice that number could be provided for."

Captain Ethel Adams is the Officer who is appointed to take charge of the Institute, under the direction of course, of Major Desbriay, the Women's Social Secretary. She has spent some months in England, studying, under Colonel Lambert, the methods of training at the Institute in London, and has also had the benefit of instructive victory conversations with Commissioner Adelaide Cox and Mrs. General Booth.

The Captain will be assisted by Captain Withers, who has spent some years in the Women's Social Work in London.

"I may have some sympathy through 'The War Cry,' the interest, sympathy, and prayers of all our comrades—Officers and Soldiers—will be of great help in this undertaking. I trust the prayers of our people, and cannot but feel that work begun with prayer is sure to receive the approval of God."

The first contingent of Cadets enters the Institute on September 21st. We hope to give in some photographs of the building.

mistake not, it will prove an important day in the history of every one of our Women's Social Work.

The commencement of such special Training has, in my judgment, been delayed all too long in Canada.

"True, it would be impossible to over-estimate the excellent work that has been done by our devoted Officers of the Women's Social Department throughout the Territory. We have grown, and are constantly taking up new branches of work."

"Classification, or specialisation, is therefore of the utmost importance in our Training. That is self-evident. The principle has long been recognised in the world of education. It was indeed been followed by The Army in the Old Country, and we have been anxious to move forward in that direction here. Now the great opportunity has come, and I rejoice to know that we shall be able to give an Women's Social Cadets the special Training that their great work demands."

The Commissioner holds strongly the opinion that the absence of such special training has in days gone by prevented many young women who were capable of doing great work from their services. "Some have so," he said. "They have their lack of ability for the work, and their lack of character, and could not see how they could be fitted for without some particular Training."

Any book that were made the vehicle of such daring pronouncements, such stinging rebukes of insincerity and formality—any book, indeed, that were a spiritual searchlight, revealing to misdirected or groping souls the whole truth, unpalatable though it might sometimes be, could not but wield a powerful and far-reaching spiritual influence. There is no doubt whatever that such has been the case with "Popular Christianity." In all parts the world it has discovered men and

How many of these are Officers in the Salvation Army as a result of their reading of this book! A young minister, who once heard Mrs. Booth preach, announced his intention of at once becoming a Salvationist. Mrs. Booth, fearing that he might be acting without due thought, advised him to go on with his present work, and in the hope of helping him, she has now sent him a copy of "Popular Christianity." Many of the declarations of the maxims in The Army, and the number of striking passages that in-

“What is man's disease? Mrs. Boothby asks, and answering her own inquiry continues: “Sin, badness, falseness, spiritual death. Salvation means restoration to goodness, to truth, to holiness, to the life of God, to deliverance from inward evil, and renewal of the heart in righteousness and true Holiness. It means the right adjustment of the faculties of the mind, the emotions, the will, with the laws of its own being, with the laws of God, and with the righteous claims of its fellow-beings. In short, it means being put right in all its relations for time and for eternity.”

certain mail. And as regards the lighting, well, we suffered most headaches from that than from any other cause. Every time the wheels went round the lights bobbed down and you can understand what a tiring setting type and reading proofs was under such conditions. We were glad at length to almost give up the wretched plant away and buy power from the Electric Light Company. Gas plants, of course, had improved since then."

"What about the staff of those days?"

ation. The Old News Association, Mr. Flemington Cress, still in the same trade in Toronto, "Jim" was he was familiarly called, landed in Toronto many years ago without a cent in his pocket. He said he had a letter in his pocket in the morning he opened the window and found a ladder conveniently placed. He took immediate advantage of the opportunity and climbed to the top of the house where he paid up later. His ability to overcome difficulties was also shown in making up the pages of "The Wreck of the Great Eastern" and "The Cry." Should there not be a third volume, he would add a paragraph or two of his own composition. As far as I know, this was never covered by the author. He was notified many times under our present conditions. Reader Walker.

MAJOR ATTWELL RELATES SOME REMINISCENCES OF EARLY DAY WARFARE IN CANADA.

Toronto Headquarters on "The War Cry," he said to me. As he was the Commissioner's Private Secretary, I knew for sure that it was more than a rumour, so without more ado I packed my trunk, and took the train for Toronto.

"The War Cry" Office in those days was situated in an old church which stood next to where the Temple now stands. Eaton's factory is built on the site. How well do remember going there the first morning after my arrival, and seeing Captain G. L. Phillips (now Major) seated in a little dark office reading proofs.

"Those were days of unrest. The Army, and I had the unique experience of working under the direction of an ex-Officer for two weeks. The Editor of that time had resigned, but to prevent things going into a muddle, had consented to stay on for two weeks and edit the paper."

"What sort of a plant did you have in those days?"
"I had a steam plant for some time, which gave fairly good service. I continued to run on it for a long time."

it off in the morning, after which it would run the whole day without attention. But the theory differed from the practice, as we soon found out. The usual early morning scene was that of six and sometimes eight men trying to turn the large fly-operation often had to be repeated during the day, while
